

IUCEE Newsletter: April 2011:

The momentum of IUCEE towards sustainability continues. During the 2008 and 2009, 36 professors from US and 10 industry experts have given 46 workshops to about 1,165 faculty members, hosted at the Global Education Center of Infosys Technologies in Mysore and funded by private donors. During 2010, IUCEE built on the success of the first two years by conducting 37 workshops in a regional and semi-sustainable format. An IUCEE Consortium of 22 Colleges hosted 37 workshops by 28 US experts and 5 industry experts for over 1000 Indian faculty at 25 locations all over India. Host colleges provided 50% of the costs. Some amazing results of radical curriculum revisions resulting from teams of participants at the 2008, 2009 and 2010 FLIs have been documented. Significant positive outcomes have been demonstrated with over 100 colleges all over India.

The Plans for 2011 are falling into place. 37 Consortium Colleges from all over India are now signed up. More than 200 US faculty experts have indicated interest in offering IUCEE programs. During summer 2011, we expect to conduct roughly 30 one-week faculty workshops by US experts, 10 three-day workshops by industry experts and 7 two-week short courses for students. Plans for these are in various stages of finalization. Recently started IUCEE Webinar Series has been a big hit. Seven Webinars have been conducted so far by US faculty from the US using "GoTo Meeting" service. Many of these have been attended by 200 faculty and students sitting in their colleges all over India. The quality has been excellent and recordings are available on the IUCEE portal. IUCEE plans to continue to conduct Webinars every week. Details are available on our Portal at <http://iucee.org/iucee/index.php>
